TEXAS APPROVED BOUNDARY LINE

NO DOUBT OF RIGHT OF NEW MEXICO TO THE LAND WEST OF THE 103d MERIDIAN.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Citing the disparaging things that former president Roosevelt has said about former presidents of the country, Martin W. Littleton said some rather harsh things about Mr. Roosevelt last night and predicted that Roosevelt would soon put Taft in the class with the other "undesirables" who have been president.

Littleton is a former Texan, exmayor of the borough of Brooklyn, and is running on the Tammany ticket for congress in the New York district.

In citing criticisms passed upon former presidents by Roosevelt, Mr. Littleton added that apparently another executive and one of Mr. Roosevelt's own creation, is probably awaiting his place in "this hall of infamy."

"He (Roosevelt) has not completed his symposium of mediocrity," continued Mr. Littleton; "he has not concluded his catalog of incompetencies; but there seems to be another president scheduled to fall under his condemnation. There seems to be another who will find his place with Buchanan, the shifty and selfish politician; with Tyler, who was a politician of monumental littleness; with Van Buren, who faithfully served the manumission of the negro; with Jackson, who was ignorant and headstrong; with Monroe, who was a courteous gentleman of no special ability; with Madison, whose incapacity brought shame and disgrace to America in the year of 1812; with Jefferson, the most incapable president that ever filled the president's chair."

"This president who is awaiting, no doubt, his place in this hall of infamy, is one that Mr. Roosevelt himself created. It is a pathetic picture of broken friendship, it is a sad commentary upon the stability of political alliances to see a patient, just, earnest, plain and rugged judge, who occupies the place of his place and is crowded out of his place and is crowded out of his place and is crowded out of his place."

"Is it any wonder, then, that he preaches new nationalities? Need one be surprised at this strange doctrine? Having got his views respecting eight of the presidents of the United States, and having surmised his attitude toward a ninth, need we be surprised that he finds no difficulty in urging a radical change in the structure of the government; a change which is the strangest mixture of socialism and empire, a most unique notion of despotism and disorder."

"The vast region which Mr. Roosevelt's political economy he has peopled with a law-made race of men and women who grope their way in the very fog of diffuse and unrelated powers. In the wide range of his active mind he has never encountered a structure of authority which he would not change, a form of government which he would not alter, a society which he would not transform. In the long reach of his ample mind he has never met with a philosopher whom he would not advise, a teacher whom he would not instruct, a soldier whom he would not command, a king whose scepter he would not wield, a book which he would not rewrite, a religion which he would not reorganize, a civilization which he would not reconstruct."

"In government, bound by no law; in life, bound by no policy; in intercourse, bound by no attachments; in debate, bound by no record; in society, bound by no conventions; in conduct, bound by no tradition; in attack, bound by no strategy; in retreat, bound by no order; in ambition, bound by no limit, he is the final, conclusive, and dogmatic answer to the riddles of the universe."
